

Dear Friends and Colleagues
Laparoscopic Urology is a steadily growing discipline that is gradually replacing open surgery in Urology. It is evident however, that any new surgical approach requires careful consideration, exchange of ideas and experience.

“Challenges in Laparoscopy” has become an international event. This third encounter will once again bring together top surgeons in the field and excellent speakers, all of whom are recognized authorities in the international arena.

This year Challenges will be directed towards exceptional procedures that are unusual in daily practice. The surgeons will be Renaud Bollens, Richard Gaston, Günter Janetschek and Peter Schulam, experienced surgeons who don't require further introduction. In the afternoon, a series of lectures will provide relevant and up to date information on all aspects of Urological Laparoscopy.

Robotic surgery is becoming increasingly ubiquitous on both sides of the Atlantic. Ample space will be devoted to surgical procedures and discussion of this relatively new surgical technique.

The eternal city of Rome will provide the ideal setting for this meeting. Old antiquities and innovative surgical techniques will convene to afford us with new ideas and new experiences in this rapidly growing field.

Arrivederci a Roma.

Get Together Evening at “Villa Miani”

Villa Miani is today one of the few points from which you can admire the city of Rome as well as the Pincio and the Janiculum hills. Perfectly restored to its former elegance with its splendid private rooms and terraces is a unique and unforgettable scene.

Built in 1800, it later became the residence of a noble Venetian family and until the beginning of this century, was considered an exclusive country house, just outside the vatican walls. In 1875 Garibaldi regretfully turned down the offer to reside at Villa Miani (which would have enabled him to look down upon the Pope in the valley below) as it was far from the Parliament building for the aging General.

Today, Villa Miani is outside and yet inside Rome at the same time. It is located in a large, secluded park, away from traffic. In this way, Villa Miani preserves its exclusiveness. It has been a natural, and aristocratic setting for many important events.
